ODYSSEY PETS IS NOW SEACHEM PLATINUM CERTIFIED!!!

What does that mean, you ask?

Trainees from stores
across the U.S. go to Seachem headquarters in Madison, Georgia for two days worth of intense training in an effort to offer their customers the best service, products, and knowledge possible for the aquarium industry. Attendees gained in-depth knowledge about Seachem products as well as valuable hobby and industry information. Our very own Chase Ringle and Justin Orrick passed the test! So, now you can pester them for any in-depth aquaria knowledge you desire. Even if you don't have an aquarium, you can come pester them anyway!

We now use the premium quality Seachem Salinity salt in all of our tanks and now sell it as our pre-mixed salt at the rock bottom price of 99¢
per gallon.

GRAIN FREE VS. GRAIN Pet foods

Choosing a pet food can be daunting. Seeking out the most appropriate food for your dog requires owner attentiveness, observation, and a willingness to try new things. High energy, high protein content foods are not suitable for all dogs, and likewise low protein foods cannot be considered a 'one-type-fits-all' solution either. A food designated for "maintenance" will not support the nutritional needs of a pregnant/nursing female or growing puppy. Allergies can also play a role as to which food to choose.

Grains are essentially plant seeds. The energy from grains is not as readily useful to dogs and not as plentiful as the energy they would get from meat. Grain-free diets are made mostly of meat products and tend to be more expensive as well as more nutritionally rich in protein. A dog fed 3 cups of high protein food would have more 'fuel' than a dog fed 3 cups of low protein food. Ultimately, you would potentially feed less of a grain-free food because the animal is getting more nutrition per pound. This means pet waste would be minimized too, which means less to pick up in the yard!

Don't forget that just because they don't like the food or it upsets their stomach doesn't mean there's something wrong with either the food or the dog. Most people try multiple foods before settling on one for long term feeding. Odyssey Pets can help you figure out which food will work best for you and your dog. We also provide samples of many of the foods we carry. And, remember all of our foods are guaranteed! So, if your dog doesn't like it or it's just not working out, you can bring it back for a full refund.

Natural Planet Pet Foods is one of the only companies to create a pet food with primarily organic and select non-GMO (Genetically Modified Organism) ingredients. Of course, it's grain-free too! Rabbit & Salmon and Duck & Whitefish now available. Ask us for a sample!

Homer's Kitty Korner

CANNED VS. DRY FOR KITTY

A high quality food is important to any pet's health. Dry food is easy to store and cheaper overall but canned food is less processed than dry so it contains more nutrition. The actual meat content is much higher in canned food which is beneficial for cats because they are strictly carnivores. For cats especially, canned foods contain a high amount of water which is critical for urinary tract health. The carbohydrate level of most canned foods is also lower than that of most dry foods. Odyssey has a variety of high quality canned cat foods. Ask us what our favorites are!

Benefits to Food Rotation

Rotation feeding is really all about variety. It's a holistic and nutritional philosophy that offers your pet a dietary alternative – varying both food proteins (chicken, beef, lamb, etc.) and food forms (raw, frozen, wet, dry, etc.). This way your dog or cat is able to enjoy and experience different flavors and textures.

Proponents of rotation feeding boast about the many health and behavioral benefits, but here are three particular benefits that may interest you:

- 1) A more complete approach to nutrient intake
- 2) Creates excitement during mealtime
- 3) Reduce risk of food allergies & intolerances

FISHY NEWS

Know your fish: White Cloud Tetra

The white cloud mountain minnow has been referred to as the “poor man’s neon tetra” because during the ‘30s and ‘40s neon tetras were prohibitively expensive to own for most people. But don’t let the name fool you – these fish are an excellent addition to any cold water aquarium, and their colors rival the neon tetra. They also have the added benefit of being far hardier than neon tetras. In modern times, they have become exceedingly rare in the wild, but are still widely available in the aquarium hobby.

These are peaceful, community fish native to China that love cooler water temperatures. Maximum size of 1.5”.

A true hobbyist’s fish and great deal at $1.99.

LEARN STUFF: STRIPED BLENNY

This beautiful little saltwater fish is great for reef tanks 25 gallons & up as they reach a max length of 5”. They are from the Indo-Pacific and are active swimmers. They have beautiful black & white horizontal stripes with a bright wash of yellow. Can’t beat it at $24.99!
